Biography

Rigoletto, Scarpia, Wotan, Golaud. Pierre-Yves Pruvot brings the great figures of the operatic repertoire to life with the same instinct for theatre that draws him to forgotten operas. A baritone with a warm timbre and a rich, full-bodied lower register, he brings a tragic actor's instincts to roles as different as Iago and Jochanaan. His Wagner roles also include Amfortas, Klingsor and Gunther. The French repertoire holds a special place in his career, with roles such as Athanaël in Thaïs and Sancho in Don Quichotte.

At the Capitole in Toulouse, he sang Barnaba in Olivier Py's production of La Gioconda, followed by Kurwenal in Nicolas Joël's production of Tristan und Isolde. In Rouen, he appeared as Thoas in Robert Carsen's staging of Iphigénie en Tauride. He has also worked with Christian Schiaretti on Tosca and Il barbiere di Siviglia, and sung in two productions directed by Jean-Louis Grinda, Carmen and Thaïs.

In Caracas, he sang Simón Bolívar in the first complete staged revival of Milhaud's opera since its premiere. In Chemnitz, he took part in the revival of Meyerbeer's Vasco de Gama, which was subsequently recorded. Alongside these revivals, he takes part in the creation of new opera. At the Théâtre du Capitole in Toulouse, he sang Marcel Jouhandeau in the world premiere of Bruno Mantovani's Voyage d'automne.

His discography includes several dozen recordings with orchestra. It reflects his commitment to rarely performed works such as Cherubini's Lodoïska, Grétry's Céphale et Procris and Kreutzer's La Mort d'Abel. French opera is also well represented, with works by Bizet, Gounod, Massenet and Debussy. With pianist Charles Bouisset, he has made several recordings of Lieder and French art song.

A laureate of the Queen Elisabeth Competition, Pierre-Yves Pruvot founded the music publishing house Éditions Symétrie in Lyon.
